

pacific view |

Nick Leith Baker | represented by Peter Dealbert

Nick Leith Baker is a television writer focused on action, crime and espionage stories. Baker was most recently part of the writing team behind Showtime's hit series Homeland. He is currently developing Jeff Archer's novel Eleventh Commandment with Patrick Harbinson and Jon Cassar executive producing. Prior, Baker's one-hour pilot Lullaby won Harvardwood's TV Pilots category and Baker was also named "Most Staffable Writer".

Originally from Boston, Massachusetts, Baker graduated from Harvard with a degree in History before pursuing screenwriting and participating in Harvardwood. Baker has trained for the Olympics and continues to coach rowing in Marina Del Rey. He began his career as writer's assistant to Homeland executive producer Chip Johannessen. Baker resides in Los Angeles with his wife.

Television

Eleventh Commandment
Homeland

Writer
Staff Writer

Patrick Harbinson/Jon Cassar
Showtime/20th/Gideon Raff

Awards

Lullaby

Writer

Harvardwood Award/"Most Staffable"